Checklist for Disaster Preparedness
(It is a good idea to have sufficient supplies for at least 72 hours)

REMEMBER: Maintain your disaster supplies kit.

Rotate food and water and check batteries regularly.

Store your kit in a convenient place and in an easy-to-carry bag.

Please check on friends or neighbors who might not be able to go out to get supplies.

If food, water or other supplies are needed in the aftermath of a disaster, check with local radio, TV and newspapers for information on location and timing of supply distribution.

- Water: Store water in plastic containers, 1 gallon of water per person for each day, allowing for up to 3 days. Remember to have extra water on hand for pets.
- Food: Store non-perishable food and ready-to-eat canned meat and vegetables, juices, soups, milk, sugar, vitamins, salt and pepper. Include high energy foods (e.g., peanut butter, jelly, crackers, granola bars, trail mix, nuts and dry cereals). Add comfort foods (candy, cookies, instant coffee and tea). Be sure to include foods for anyone who may be on a special diet (e.g., diabetics, seniors and infants). Remember food for pets.
- First-aid kit: Build a kit with bandages, adhesive tape, scissors, tweezers, needles, pins, antiseptic, moist towelettes, tongue depressors, petroleum jelly, a thermometer, latex gloves, cleaning agents and sunscreen. Also include all prescription and non-prescription medicine, aspirin and non-aspirin pain relievers, anti-diarrhea medicine, an antacid, a laxative and something to be used for poison control (e.g., syrup of ipecac or activated charcoal). Remember special needs such as supplies for dentures, contact lenses and eyeglasses. Include a first-aid book.
- Tools and supplies: Include a battery-operated radio and extra batteries, flashlight, tape, needles and thread, pliers, thick plastic sheeting, nails, boards, duct tape, paper and pencil, matches (in waterproof container), can opener, aluminum foil, plastic storage containers, disposable eating utensils, emergency cooking equipment (canned heat, etc.), fire extinguisher, garbage bags, signal flare, whistle, tire repair kit, disinfectant and chlorine bleach.
- Personal hygiene products, toilet paper, diapers and feminine supplies.
- Clothing, sturdy shoes, rain gear, towels, bedding or sleeping bags, hats, work gloves and sunglasses.
- Include a map of your intended destination for evacuation.
- It is helpful to include supplies for entertainment, such as games and books.
- Have a camera on hand (or buy a disposable one) to take photos of your property for insurance purposes.
- Important family documents should be kept in a waterproof, portable container: This includes wills, insurance policies, an inventory of valuable household goods, important telephone numbers, deeds, stocks, contracts, passports, social security cards, immunization records, bank account details and credit card information, as well as other family records such as birth, marriage and death certificates.
